Lingue migranti e nuovi paesaggi AA. VV., 2015-04-16T00:00:00+02:00 Il presente volume, che inaugura la collana Lingue Culture Mediazioni promossa dal Dipartimento di Scienze della Mediazione linguistica e di Studi interculturali (SMELSI), ospita una selezione dei contributi presentati in occasione del convegno omonimo, svoltosi il 22 e il 23 novembre 2012. La definizione di 'Atti di convegno', tuttavia, mal si adatta a questa raccolta di studi, che non si limita a trasferire gli interventi orali nella pagina scritta, bensì sviluppa ulteriori percorsi di studio e riflessione attraverso un approccio interdisciplinare adottato fin dalla progettazione dell'evento. Questa pluralità di sguardi, essenziale per lo studio di un fenomeno così complesso come quello delle migrazioni, ha configurato uno spazio di incontro tra accademici di diverse appartenenze disciplinari, in cui ognuno, pur senza rinunciare al rigore metodologico della propria area di ricerca, ha potuto aprirsi a nuove prospettive di indagine. I quattordici lavori qui riuniti, perciò, pur partendo da piattaforme disciplinari diversificate, convergono in vari aspetti, dai riferimenti teorici alle conclusioni e ai suggerimenti rivolti alle politiche in materia di immigrazione, educazione e lingua. È proprio nella loro varietà che questi contributi offrono un apporto significativo allo studio dei complessi fenomeni legati ai movimenti migratori, in cui la lingua, oltre a costituire un simbolo dell'identità etnica, si delinea come un'entità dinamica che si adatta al contesto e che a sua volta lo rimodella, permettendo di attivare identità multiple nei diversi contesti interazionali e nelle pratiche discorsive. Le lingue migranti al centro del nostro interesse, infatti, sono lingue in movimento, che s'incontrano e si rendono visibili all'interno di nuovi paesaggi, i quali a loro volta si trasformano, modificando le rappresentazioni collettive.

Gender, Generations and the Family in International Migration Albert Kraller, Eleonore Kofman, Martin Kohli, Camille Schmoll, 2011 Family-related migration is moving to the centre of political debates on migration, integration and multiculturalism in Europe. It is also more and more leading to lively academic interest in the family dimensions of international migration. At the same time, strands of research on family migrations and migrant families remain separate from--and sometimes ignorant of--each other. This volume seeks to bridge the disciplinary divides. Fifteen chapters come up with a number of common themes. Collectively, the authors address the need to better understand the diversity of family-related migration and its resulting family forms and practices, to question, if not counter, simplistic assumptions about migrant families in public discourses, to study family migration from a mix of disciplinary perspectives at various levels and via different methodological approaches and to acknowledge the state's role in shaping family-related migration, practices and lives--Rear cover.

Globalization and Social Policy Nicola Yeates, 2001-08-21 Globalisation and Social Policy critically evaluates implications of globalisation to both social policy and social welfare provision.

Transnationalism Steven Vertovec, 2009-03-30 'Transnationalism' refers to multiple ties and interactions linking people or institutions across the borders of nation-states. This book surveys the broader meanings of transnationalism within the study of globalization before concentrating on migrant transnational practices. Each chapter demonstrates ways in which new and contemporary transnational practices of migrants are fundamentally transforming social, political and economic structures simultaneously within homelands and places of settlement. Transnationalism provides a much-needed single, clear and condensed text concerning a major concept in academic and policy discourse today. The book is for advanced undergraduate students, postgraduates and academics.

Multicultural Questions Christian Joppke, Steven Lukes, 1999 This volume assembles leading scholars from a range of disciplines to debate multiculturalism in theory and practice. The volume is grouped around four central questions raised by multiculturalism; Is universalism ethnocentric?; Does multiculturalism threaten citizenship?; Do minorities require group rights?; and what can Europe learn from North America? The book aims to answer these questions by moving the debate about multicultural questions into a more consensual mode. The authors show a resistance to either endorsing or rejecting multiculturalism, but a preference for dissecting and differentiating the concrete historical and geographical contexts in which specified versions of multiculturalism make sense, and others in which they do not.
